

YESA PROJECT PROFILE: Coal Mine Expansion, Semirara Island, Philippines

Month/Year Started: January 1990

Month/Year Finished: September 1990

Client: DPA Group

Locations

PHILIPPINES

Description

This assignment was part of a feasibility study of the expansion of a coal mine in Semirara Island. It included an assessment of the human resource development needs and potential social impacts of the proposed expansion of the coal mine.

YESA designed the research framework and the rapid appraisal methodology for the field research. The framework and methodology allowed for information gathering in a relatively short time and for initial project decisions to be made.
